

ROB STANLEY

Rob Stanley originally hails from Canberra and has played and recorded with many bands throughout the 90s, notable acts such as Snuf and Lilyak.

Rob's style is predominantly instrumental metal, but he is influenced by many styles of music from jazz to classical to dance and electronica. His music is gaining a strong reputation as amazing technical shred guitar whilst remaining melodic, powerful and progressive.

He has recently performed with Brisbane and interstate acts such as Elektrik Dynamite and Levic, and local Sunshine Coast acts Idle Theory, Technical Simplicity, Tranzulzid and Morning Gloree.

Rob's first full length instrumental solo album has almost been completed and should be ready for release in May 2010.

"You know what? I never tire of watching Rob do his thing. Even more, I love watching people see him for the first time. Their reactions of 'oh my god' and 'holy shit! How IS this dude?' is pretty damn priceless.

Rob's shredding tonight, and his ever-so-polite and witty, short banter is always amusing, but he always lets his playing do the majority of the talking. There's a good size crowd in the newer venue that is Club Envy, and the majority in here are Rob Stanley virgins, watching and nodding in awe...."
